Anais Salazar is originally from Culiacán, Sinaloa. She studied Law at the Universidad Autónoma de Occidente until the third semester when she discovered her vocation for acting. Soon after she moved to Mexico City to begin studying at the School of Televisa (CEA) thus beginning her career as an actress, conductor, and singer. Anaías has appeared in over fifteen telenovelas, the most recognizable include “Bajo Un Mismo Rostro,” “El Privilegio De Amar,” “Código Postal,” “Pasión,” and “La Que No Podía Amar.”

In addition to being a actress, conductor, and singer Anaías has also hosted several programs and events this includes the Telegames. She has participated in the 4tv Club next with Ernesto Laguardia, and in 2004 she was part of one of the most important morning shows in Latin America “Hoy.” Anaís was part of the Estrella TV family for 9 years where she presented “Estrellas Hoy,” “Itestigó,” and eventually began to present the newscasts at 5PM and 11PM. Currently, she is the host of the morning show "Acceso Total" on Telemundo.

Anais has also participated in several Mexican Soap Operas such as “Mujeres Asesinas,” “Mujer, Casos de la Vida Real,” “La Rosa de Guadalupe,” and “Vecinos.” Anaís has released two music singles which you can listen to on iTunes, Spotify, and Youtube. The singles are titled “Fiesta” and “Formas de Amor,” which is a tribute to the 30th anniversary to the group Caló.
