Jessica Diaz is a versatile Mexican artist hailing from Culiacán, Sinaloa. She has showcased her talents in various fields of entertainment, such as music, television, theater, and film. Her impressive portfolio includes working on significant projects for major Latin American television stations, such as Televisa, Telemundo, Imagen TV, and TV Azteca.

Aside from being a gifted singer and songwriter, Jessica has successfully placed several of her songs in telenovelas, including "Como Tú No Hay Dos," which won her an ASCAP award in 2021. She has also showcased her acting skills in the same telenovela, where she stood out as part of the cast.

In addition to her musical and acting prowess, Jessica has also shown her talent in dance. She was a contestant on the Telemundo reality show "Así Se Baila," where she and her partner were one of the favorite couples of the public, consistently receiving high scores. She also competed in the TV Azteca reality show "Soy Famoso Sácame De Aquí," where she finished in second place. Jessica's diverse skills and talents make her a force to be reckoned with in the entertainment industry.

Jessica's latest project involves her portrayal of the antagonist, "Jeanine Loher" in the musical telenovela "Pienso en Ti" produced by Carlos Bardasano for Televisa-Univision. Not only does her character play a role in the central couple's love triangle, but she also has the chance to showcase her singing talents as part of the story.
