

NITZIA CHAMA

ACTRESS, MC, TV & RADIO HOST

**Demo Reel & more**

Nitzia Chama is a Mexican actress, television host, journalist, and content creator with a solid career spanning U.S. and international television, film, and digital media. She is currently in a key phase of her professional career, maintaining an active presence in Latino media while participating in entertainment and culturally focused projects with broad reach.

In early 2025, Nitzia joined as the host of the exclusive interviews for “Viva La Santa Biblia,” the first Spanish-language Bible audiobook narrated by Latino celebrities. Following this project, she became part of the international morning show “Despierta América,” marking her return to Univision, now based in Miami, Florida, where she currently resides. In March 2024, she and her husband, a Veracruz-born entrepreneur, welcomed their first child.

Her acting credits include roles in “The Garcias” (HBO Max), where she portrayed a contemporary Mexican woman, and the third season of “American Crime” (ABC). She starred in the short film “She Returns,” produced in collaboration with the American Film Institute, which has screened at multiple international festivals and earned her the Best Actress Award at the Albuquerque Film Festival, along with recognition in circuits such as the College Emmy.

Nitzia began her media career at Univision Communications, where she worked for more than eight years as a host on “Despierta Los Ángeles” (KMEX) and as a national reporter and producer for “Despierta América.” During the pandemic, she created “Inspirarte Latinos,” a digital platform and podcast focused on sharing stories from the Latino and immigrant community. Born and raised in Xalapa, Veracruz, she holds degrees in Business Administration and Education, as well as a postgraduate diploma in The Power of Migrant Women and Their Families from the University of Guanajuato. Today, from Miami, she continues to build her career across media, acting, and community-driven storytelling.
